

Astrology / Signs I feel like always look the same versus changing

I notice Gemini and Virgo go through long phases. So they have one style before they're 18 then they have their 20's maybe into early 30's then by late 30's they start to solidify into a style that stays until like their 60's/70's then they have their old person look.

Sagittarius women it seems like mix it up a lot but always form flattering. Sag men it's like basically the same their whole life lmao.

Libra men same their whole life.
Libra women also have a ton of variety and change but always form flattering.

Leo go on trend or identity showing in their style. Which can either change or stay the same. Usually not super all over the place.

Cancers goes through like a steady evolution so they're always incrementally changing until maybe their 30's and then it starts to solify.

Taurus will be one way forever and then one day switch to something else for a long time. But that's it just those two. Not much change otherwise.

Capricorn either go through steady evolution and often mix it up into their late 30's then sort of coming into less drastic change but with variety in attire and smaller things. However some just do the same thing their whole life. Either they do variety their whole life or almost never variety.

Aries steadily evolve in sort of chapters. Like here was my kid style then my 20's then my 30's then 40's but it's all pretty much the same lol like it's different but it's not. By 40 it pretty much doesn't change

Scorpio usually has their lifetime style set by their early 20's even earlier maybe by their teens. Maybe one or two changes once they're like 60.

Aquarius are like Capricorn in that they either mix it up a ton all the time until they get real old or they basically never change. The men definitely lean toward never changing style.

Pisces pretty much keep it the same. Some have one or two big stylistic changes early like in their 20's, then stay that way. They also usually have a drastic change if they have a drastic traumatic event.
