

Longer Thinking/ Conspiracies/ Babble / Burning bridges?!

Why do humans needs metaphorical bridges?? Are you an island?
Personally I can build myself a plane and fucking fly to the other side if there's an obstacle, thanks. Lol, no but truly. Independent people aren't relying on the bridges they need help with building and maintaining in order to get them across hypothetical metaphorical water ways and trenches to get to the resources they need to get to. I'm abundant bitch. Haha... so. Set them ablaze please. Jk If the bridge is shitty or the other side isn't helping you build it, then walking away and letting it decay or fall apart isn't your blame. If they were trying though to build it with you then the reason would have to be you didn't like the way it was being built or where it lead or the maintenance it required or maybe it was covered in thorns or was a trap or they crossed the bridge to steal from you— metaphorically. So ——— we set, it, ABLAZE— exacltyyy!
